

Fundraising Support

Miners' welfare charities play a vital role in supporting former coal mining communities, but securing the necessary funding to maintain facilities and deliver essential services can be challenging.

We provide specialist expert guidance and resources to help miners' welfare charities access funding.

Our support package is designed to help you identify opportunities, strengthen applications, make good quality submissions, and improve your chances of success, thereby helping to secure the long-term financial sustainability of your charity.

Turn over to find out more about how we support your charity

Community Welfare Service

ciswo
THE COAL MINING CHARITY

How we support your charity

Finding funding opportunities – we help identify suitable grants, trusts, foundations and other funding bodies to support your facilities and services.

Reviewing applications and offering feedback – our team provide expert reviews of funding applications, offering constructive feedback to enhance clarity, structure, and ensure your application aligns with funders' priorities.

Writing funding applications – for charities needing additional support, we can develop compelling bespoke applications, highlighting the strengths of your charity and its impact, to meet funder requirements and expectations.

Access to Resources, Toolkits & Training – we provide fundraising templates, training sessions, and guidance on key topics such as grant application writing, funder engagement, and managing grant awards.

Why CISWO?

By partnering with CISWO, your charity can gain access to expert advice, valuable resources, and hands-on support to strengthen your fundraising efforts. We have an in-depth knowledge of miners' welfare charities and use this to build strong funding applications, improving your chances of a successful outcome.

Further information

For further information or to discuss your training needs, contact your regional development manager or visit our website: ciswo.org.uk

